Bansilal Ramnath Agarwal Charitable Trust's
Vishwakarma Institute of Technology
PUNE – 411 037

(An Autonomous Institute affiliated to Savitribai Phule Pune University)

Case Study Report on Branding and Product Promotion Strategies

Prepared By
D-25 Ajit Satpute (11920083)
D-27 Ahmed Shah (11920152)
D-28 Dev Shah (11920212)
D-34 Mihir Shinde (11810929)
D-55 Suryawanshi Aniket Ajit (11920174)

Under the Guidance of
Dr. Bharsakade Ramkrishna Shantilal

Branding and Promotion Strategy

Introduction:

Branding is the process of giving identification to a specific, product, by creating and shaping a brand (It is a name, symbol, or any other feature that identifies a particular good distinct from other sellers) in consumers' minds. It is done so people quickly identify their brand and give them a reason to choose their products over the competition. The objective is to attract and retain loyal customers and other stakeholders by delivering a product that is always aligned with what the brand promises.

Promotion strategies are actionable plans to influence people about a brand, generate more sales, and boost customer engagement. It visualizes how to perform your marketing strategy and communication, who to target as your audience, and where and when to execute the promotion plan.
Promotional strategies play a vital role in the marketing mix (product, price, placement, and promotion), and they revolve around:

- Target audience. Who you are selling for, and what are their interests?
- Budget. How much you are willing to invest in promotion.
- Plan of action. What strategy you are adopting to reach your objectives and make sales.

In India, many Brands have or had market dominance in a particular segment. Due to the market dominance, the brand name has resulted in replacing the generic name of the product. Some of the famous examples are

i. Abro Tape- Carpenters or Painters Tape
ii. Dettol- Disinfectant
iii. Bata- Shoes
iv. Xerox- Photocopy
v. Colgate- Toothpaste
vi. Pampers- Children Diapers
vii. Surf (Surf Excel)- Washing Powder

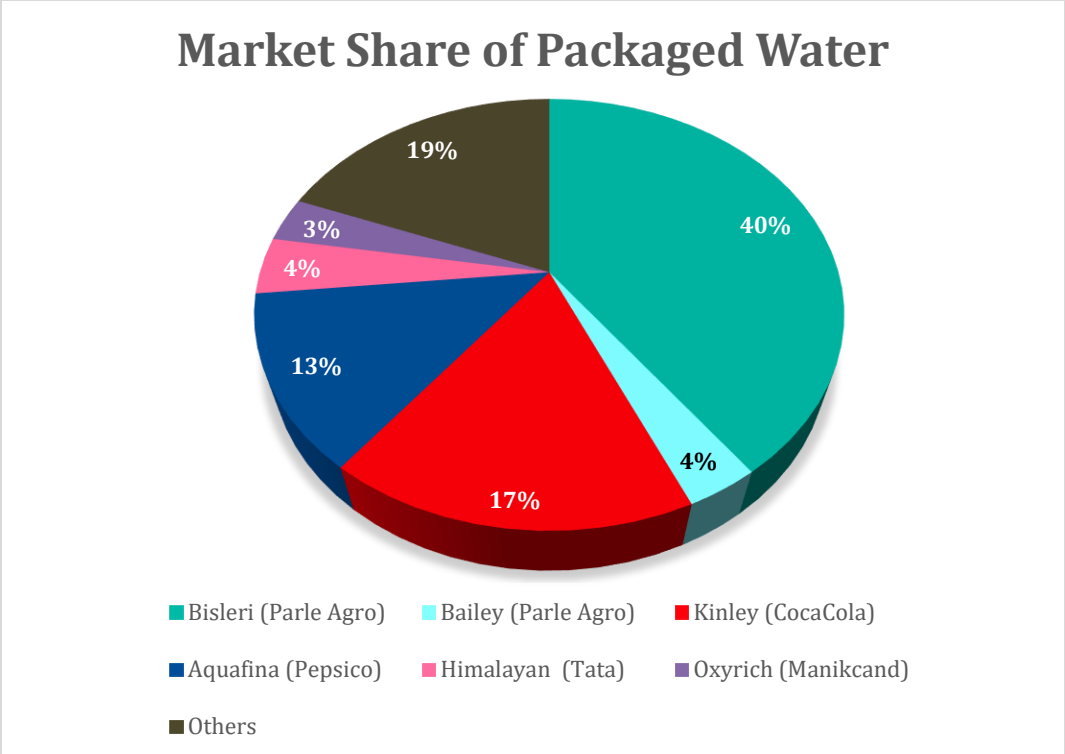
In addition to these, there are certain brands that we use in our day-to-day life we have prepared a Report on the Case Study of some of the Famous Brands of their respective categories. In the case study, we have covered the Origin of the brand and some of the Product Promotion Strategies used by these brands to capture their respective markets

Case Study

1. Bisleri

Brand Information

Brand	Bisleri
Company	Parle Agro (Bisleri International Pvt Ltd)
Founded	1949
Product	Packaged Water
Market Share	40%



Introduction:

Felice Bisleri along with Parle's founder Shri Jayantilal Chauhan launched packaged water in Mumbai, India in 1965, The expansion took place after 1969, where various products were introduced to the markets by Parle which included Soda, soft drinks, and other beverages. Bisleri introduced a new concept of selling Soda in Carbonated and non-carbonated mineral water, which resulted in increases in the production of mineral water in India. In the 1980s there was a shift when the company started using PVC packaging and later moved it to PET bottles with an aim of an eco-friendly environment. In 2006 Bisleri changed from the traditional blue colour labels to its signature green colour labels to stand out from its competitors.

Bisleri has more than 104 bottling plants in India and its neighbouring countries like Srilanka and Bangladesh. Furthermore, Bisleri also has its plants in Singapore, Japan, and other Middle-east countries. Today in India Bisleri has made itself a brand in such a way the Mineral Water or Packaged Water in India is referred to as Bisleri. It is very common that a person will say "Ek Bilseri Dena" instead of saying "Ek Pani Ki Botel de ne"

Identifying the target consumers:

Water scarcity has been a great issue in India. On the other hand, millions of people are affected by Water-borne diseases in India each year. This situation was considered by the Bisleri company and worked on. Bisleri's packaged drinking water is available in different quantities starting from 250ml, 500 ml, 1L, 2L, 5, and 20L packs. Bisleri's products are affordable and offer more volume for less cost. Bisleri also uses a location-based pricing strategy that focuses on a higher cost for restaurants, theatres, etc, and a lower cost for retail shops.

Product promotion strategies:

i. Bisleri is veri veri extraordinari

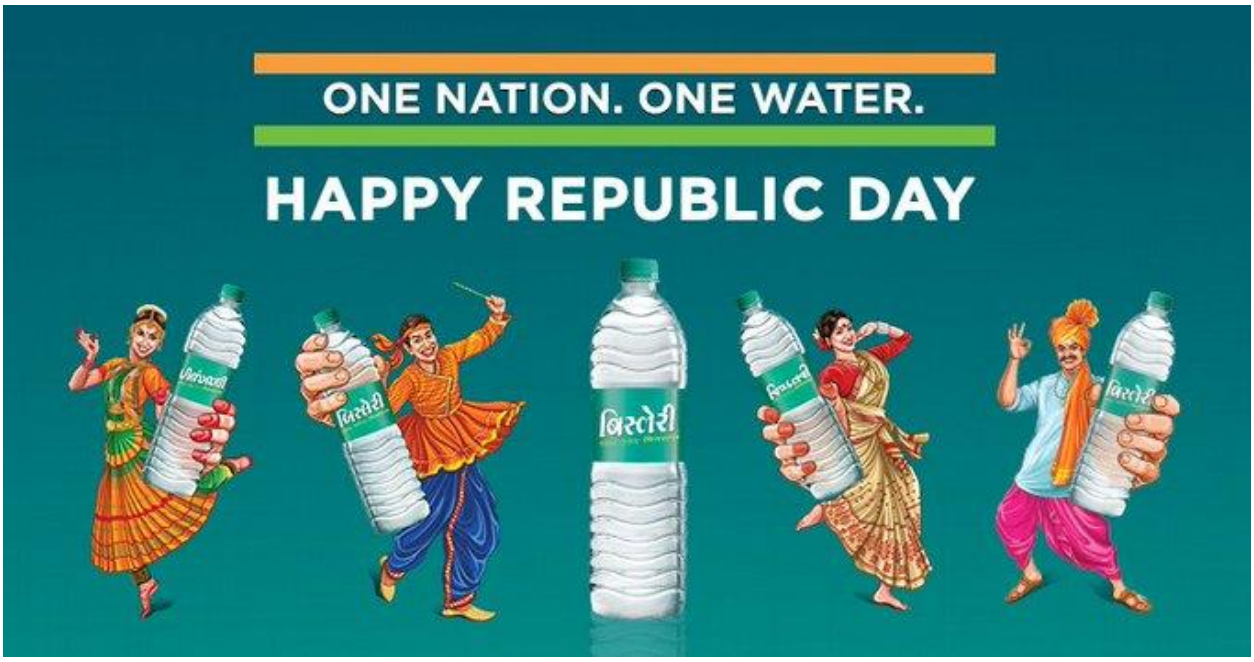
In early 2000 Bisleri launched its very first Promotion Campaign. The main reason behind the launch of this campaign was to address the tough competition by the newly entered Brands of various international giants. Kinley, which is owned by Coca-Cola, had captured nearly 25% of the market share within a few years of launch in India whereas Bisleri had a market share of around 42%. The main purpose of this strategy was to create awareness among the people that the Bisleri water is superior to other packaged water. This was the first product promotion done by Bisleri in nearly 35 years of their existence.

ii. Bisleri "one nation, one water"



In 2017 Bisleri launched a product promotion strategy Bisleri "one nation, one water", in this strategy they had printed the Bisleri logo in various regional languages. This was a celebration of true unity in diversity. It stated that "Bisleri represents the spirit of One Nation in One Bottle". The main focus of this Advertisement was to create market awareness in the consumer that Bilseri is available throughout the country.

iii. 'Har paani ki bottle Bisleri nahi hoti'!

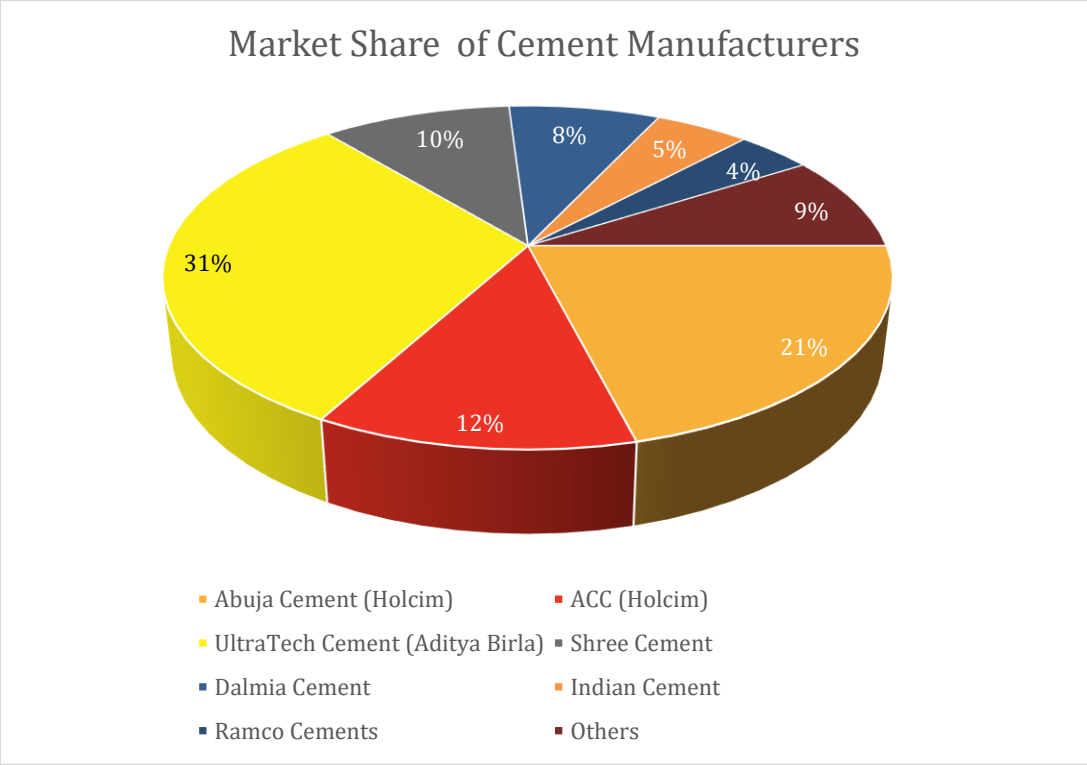
Bisleri which is India's most trusted packaged water brand in 2018 implemented a Marketing strategy to create market awareness among users about the original Bisleri bottle as at many places fake Bisleri bottles is available which at first glance look similar to the original Bisleri bottle. This campaign denotes not every bottled water is of Bisleri's. The objective of this ad campaign was to directly insist the consumer choose Bisleri by cleverly dominating other competitors' brands. This Promotion Strategy is being used till today

In the campaign, various ads were made in which camels were used. In one of the Ad, there were two Camels a mother camel and its offspring in this the offspring camel was thirsty and wanted to drink water on the way they passed various sources of water but they did not drink from it at the end of the Ad the came offers its offspring water from a Bisleri Can. At the end of the Ads, it is said “Har Maa Janti Hai Ke Har Pani Ki Bottle Bisleri Nahi Hai. Another advertisement used two camels in which the Camels went to a shop to purchase Bisleri, the shopkeeper gave them a different bottle. The camel drinks the water and spits it out and says “We are Camel, not Donkey” At the end of the Ad it is stated “Samajhdar Jan Te Hai Har paani ki bottle Bisleri nahi hoti.

2. Ambuja Cement - Cement

Brand Information

Brand	Ambuja Cement
Company	Holcim Group
Founded	1983
Product	Cement
Market Share	21%



Introduction:

Ambuja Cement is one of the leading cement manufacturers in India. It was founded in 1983 by Narotam Sekhsaria and Suresh Neotia. Currently, the company is owned by Holcim, a global leader in innovative and sustainable building solutions.

Narotam Sekhsaria and Suresh Neotia, recognized the exponential increase in demand for cement due to the rapidly growing Indian economy. The founders along with international partners Krupp Polysius from Germany built a cement plant in Gujarat The plant was completely ready in almost two years. The company currently operates five integrated plants, eight grinding units, five shipping terminals, and 18 mining leases across the country and is capable of producing 29.65 MTPA.

Product promotion strategies:

A visionary leadership, strategic partnership, acquisition, and merger strategy has propelled Ambuja Cements to market leadership in its category.

Mission: To create value across all areas...customers, engaged partners, inspired employees, an enlightened society, loyal shareholders, and a healthy environment."

Tagline: "Giant Comprehensive Strength".

Three reasons that made the company stand as a market leader and gain a competitive advantage over other was by keeping the production cost low and acquiring materials at a cheap rate as they had a larger capacity than their competitors. The third reason is the strong leadership behind the company. The company made several advertisements to create awareness about the brand and product quality

i. Ambuja Cement Bhai Bhai TVC

In this advertisement, two split brothers, SR Thakur and KR Thakur, distanced by a massive wall, decide (wants) to reconcile and put their conflicts behind them. They use every trick in the book to get through the wall. The wall has withstood everything from hammers and other tools to bombings and at the end, one brother cries the other "Bhaiyaaaa, ye deewar toot ti kyu nahi" and then there was the voiceover- "T*ootegi kaise, Ambuja Cement se jo bani hai*". This advertisement is made to convey the core value of the product i.e"strength".

ii. Ambuja Cement Dadi

This advertisement explains the emotional values of the customers related to their homes, the advertisement was completely focused on making the people literate about the reliability of the product.

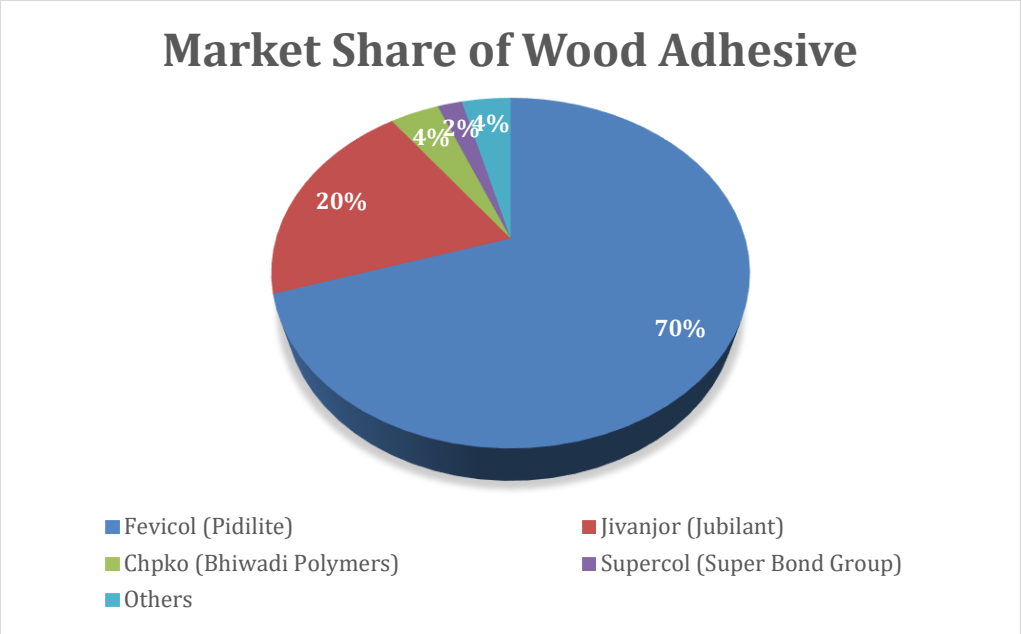
These are some of the advertisements made by the Ambuja cement company to make brand awareness in terms of quality reliability also some advertisements made to explain the uses of the product in the market

Other notable marketing strategies include Ambuja Cement Truck, Ambuja Cement Muskaan, Ambuja Cement Vijay,

3. Fevicol

Brand Information

Brand	Fevicol
Company	Pidilite Industries limited
Founded	1959
Product	Adhesive, glue, sealant
Market Share	70%



Introduction-

Balvant Parekh and his sibling Shri Sushil Parekh started the company in 1954. They started manufacturing pigment emulsions that were utilized in textile printing. After five years, in 1959, the two siblings made a manufactured option in contrast to animal glue that eternity changed how craftsmen worked on furnishings or children dealing with their special projects. They called this creation 'Fevicol'! However it was a predominant substitution, Fevicol required starting reception and propensity creation.

Fevicol is a white glue made from poly-engineered gum. It is a white paste (fluid). It is blended by warming formaldehyde and urea together. Pidilite manufactures a few variations of the item intended for credits like holding strength sway opposition, time to set, drooping, shrinkage, flexibility, imperviousness to fire, shock and vibration obstruction, Non-staining, and so forth Fevicol is utilized from a nonexclusive perspective by buyers in India to mean white paste. Fevicol, the biggest selling brand of glues in India.

Identifying the target consumers-

The Parekh brothers took on an interesting and striking marketing methodology of elevating Fevicol straightforwardly to woodworkers and not to Retail locations which was the norm around then. Fevicol went through years reinforcing the bond made by setting up a good foundation for itself as the craftsman's favoured decision and becoming familiar with white glue in households. In 1970, Fevicol was dispatched in numerous packs to oblige different project worker prerequisites. This period additionally saw the production of the 30-gram folding tube, which advanced toward stationery pockets. This was a method of getting closer to the purchaser.

Product promotion strategies

Advertisement innovations-

1) Free Store
   Everybody loves things for no cost and fevicol utilized this to exhibit the strength of the bond in the shopping centre, presents were stuck to a surface utilizing "a definitive bond" and stroll in clients were permitted to take them home free of charge provided that they could pull them off
2) Fevicol Room.
   Fevicol came up with a room/studio close to the mannat line at Mumbai's Lalbaugcha Raja pandal during Ganesh Chaturthi. The studio gave the deception of swinging from the roof or strolling on walls. Participants clicked peculiar pictures and posted them via online social media platforms.

3) Fevicol Kumbh Mela
   At Kumbh Mela, the biggest human get-together on the planet, various individuals have been reported to be lost in the crowds. Fevicol found an answer for this issue the Fevicol way! Joined marked shirts were appropriated to the group, guaranteeing they stayed together all through the occasion.

Community Initiative-

Fevicol Champions' Club (FCC) is an ethnic social platform that unites carpentry workers/ contractors to help their self and professional development. It is a pan India people group-based program where individuals of the carpentry business learn new procedures, construct networks, and procure acknowledgement for their work. Its boundless presence makes it the single biggest stage for workers/ contractors. Fully intent on accomplishing something beneficial for the general public, FCC leads a few drives.

In India, "Fevicol" is generally utilized as an illustration for solid holding or difficult tenacity, with various occurrences in Bollywood films, effective jokes, and commonplace discussion.

i. "Fevicol Se"

Fevicol, a brand that as of now has a profound interface with the country, Dabangg 2, trusting that the new rural and energetic thing tune keeps the enlarging club of Salman fanboys stuck to it. Anil Jayaraj, marketing head at Pidilite, said the affiliation didn't include any monetary arrangement, however, the organization will co-advance the melody and the film, through TV plugs, hoardings, and different media. "Fevicol's central recommendation of holding and staying comes out well in the tune," he said.

ii. Dum laga kar haisya, zor laga kar haisya; Fevicol ka mazboot jodh hai, tootega nahi

This was one of the initial ad campaigns done by the company for Fevicol SH which had seen tremendous popularity. In this ad, the ultimate bond of the fevicol is depicted by showcasing the tug of war. Two big pieces of wood are stuck with the help of fevicol and two hooks are provided on both ends for attaching a rope. One end of the rope is attached to the fixed support and the other end of the rope is pulled by numerous bodybuilders and an elephant. Here the bodybuilders coordinately chant “Dum laga Kar Hasiya, Zor Laga Kar Hasiya” and after some time gets tired of pulling yet the wooden pieces are separated. The host then claims by saying this renowned line “Yeh Fevicol Ka Mazboot Jodh, Tootega nahi”.

iii. Fevicol ka vahi mazboot jodh ab paani mai bhi;

This infamous ad campaign was carried out for the Fevicol marine product. The concept of the stiffness and sturdy bond of fevicol was showcased by a unique concept. The ad showed a sailor who was transporting a boat full of chairs. As he sails over, there is a woman who wants a lift, so the sailor kicks some chairs in the water, then she points out towards the hay she was carrying with her. Again, the sailor kicks more chairs in the water to create more room on the boat. Lastly, the lady points out to the goat also, the sailor kicks the remaining chairs in the water. This shows the ultimate bond of the fevicol marine used on the chair, as it can sustain the marine environment. Thus the tagline, Fevicol ka vahi mazboot jodh ab paani mai bhi.

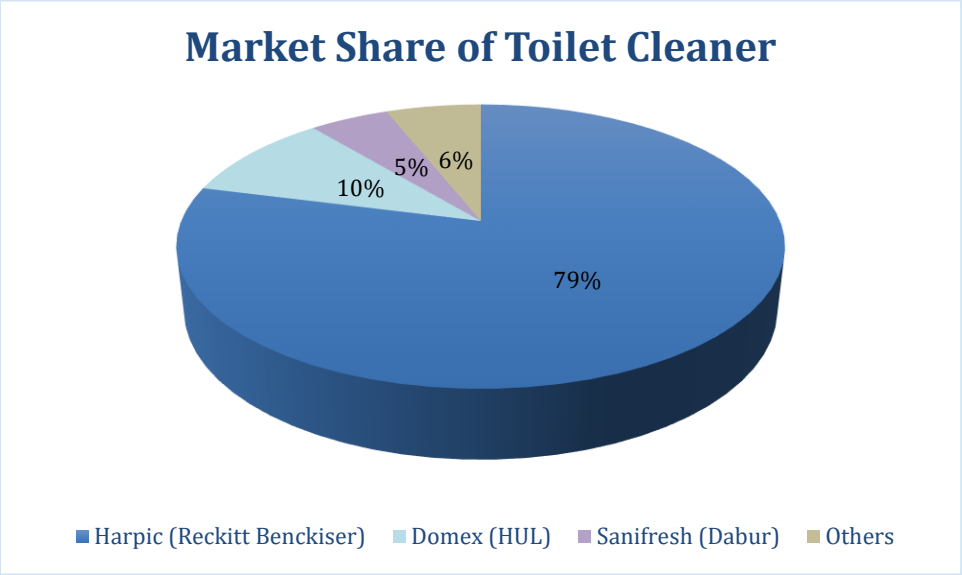
4. Harpic

Brand Information

Brand	Harpic
Company	Reckitt Benckiser Group
Founded	1949
Product	Bathroom Cleaner
Market Share	79%



Introduction:

When it comes to toilet cleaners, one name that usually comes to mind is Harpic. Harpic has been the most successful brand in the lavatory segment since 2000, with its famous quote of killing 99.9% of germs that have attracted most of the housewives for its usage. One could not even think of any other brand than Harpic, It has been more or less synonymous with toilet cleaners. Harry Pickup, who used to reside on Roscoe Street in North Yorkshire, created this toilet cleaner. This toilet cleaner was first introduced in the 1920s under the brand name Harpic. Reckitt Benckiser Group Plc is now in charge of marketing this brand.

The Reckitt Benckiser Group introduced this brand in India in 1984. This new brand launched its first product in India, primarily for toilet cleaning. In the initial stages, the brand did not receive enough attention from the households of India as it was a new concept at that time, the primary focus was to effectively clean toilets and remove yellowish stains from toilet bowls.

Identifying Target Customers:

It was important for the brand to spot the customers who would buy their product. Indian Housewives being the core of the family They decided to reach out to the Indian Housewives and convince them. It was understood by them that for all its commercials they had to impress Indian Housewives to gain a foothold in this segment.

The main purpose of the brand was to provide easy and cheap solutions to the problem which may look easy but have a greater impact on the hygiene of the family. The Company also focussed on attracting Single, unmarried individuals and encouraged them to use their brand.

Product Promotion Strategy

i. Creating general awareness among people:

From the beginning, the Company had focussed on the fact that Cleaning Toilets will maintain a healthy surrounding. initially tried to push the dangerous effects of dirty toilets and targeted the emotional sentiments of the people. Harpic launched several programs where they addressed people how Harpic would help them solve the problem and maintain household clean, Apart from this, The government has built more than 90 million toilets across the country as part of Prime Minister Narendra Modi's 'Swachh Bharat' drive. Harpic also appointed stars Amitabh Bachchan and Akshay Kumar, who starred in the sanitation-themed film 'Toilet: Ek Prem Katha,' as brand ambassadors for their cleanliness campaign.

For the first time, a toilet cleaner brand started a live demonstration, where a group of people would visit your house and check whether your bathroom is clean or not, and used to perform a live demo and make them into users of Harpic.

ii. Harpic Campaigns:

Harpic came with an advertisement for "Bhoot Bangla" which was a family-owned toilet but they were not using it, they referred to that toilet as a "Bhoot Bangla" as no one used to go there as it was dirty several. The ad insisted the family clean the toilet using the slogan "Saf Hain Toh Kaam Ka Hai, Varna Toilet Bas Naam Ka Hai". The company has also used various other slogans which are listed below:

- "Har Ghar Swachh Mission"
- "Saaf Nahi Swacch"
- "Naya Bathroom Mubarak Ho"

Harpic, marking its 100th anniversary, launched a marketing campaign, 'Saaf Nahi Swachh,' to educate consumers on superior hygiene and disinfection of toilets and bathrooms at home to safeguard their family's health and well-being during corona times.

iii. Harpic Mission Paani

Harpic launched India's first-ever Preamble for Sanitation: Clean Water, Sustainable Sanitation' on World Toilet Day(19 November 2021).

The Harpic Mission Paani is devoted to creating awareness and organizing action to ensure that 'Leaving No One Behind' and is associated with the Swachh Bharat Mission and the UN's Sustainable Development Goals. The first-ever inclusive sanitation preamble in India is a step toward jointly creating an inclusive ecology, stressing the need for us to collaborate to create a cleaner and healthier planet.

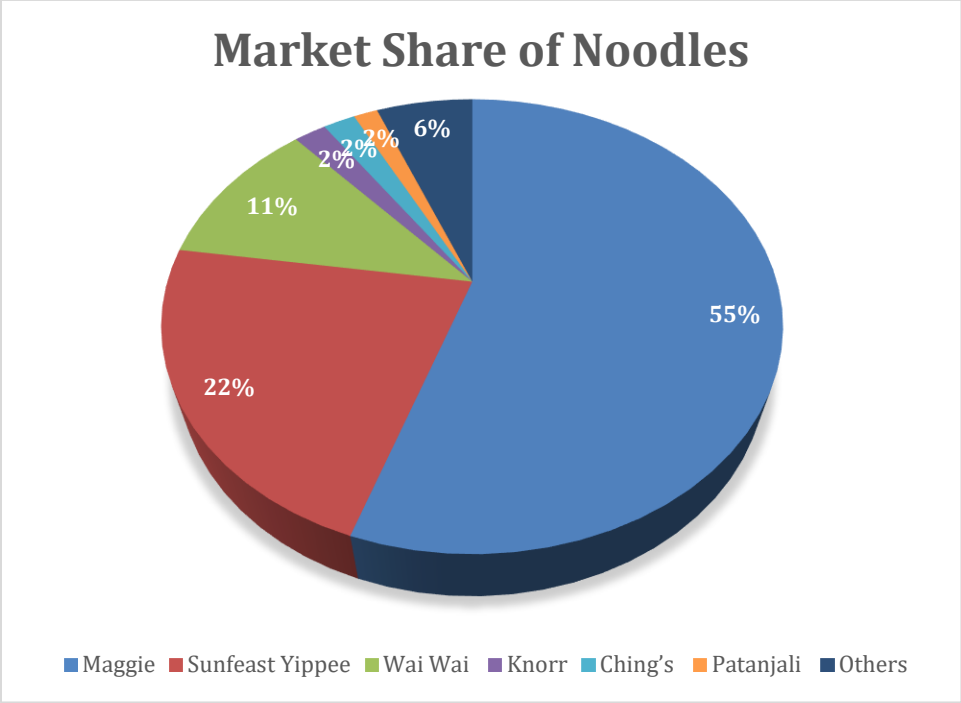
Harpic Mission Paani seeks to reach over 20 million Indians by 2022 using on-the-ground partners and Network18 to drive behavioural change in toilet usage and maintenance across India. The program's effectiveness will be assessed by Swachh Sarvekshan rankings, which will focus on WASH (water, sanitation, and hygiene) to assist in providing safe and clean toilets for all while "leaving no one behind." Harpic plans to establish 15 institutions scattered across India by 2021, up from six World Toilet Colleges in the same year. These World Toilet Colleges would help over 2 lakh sanitation workers and their extended families.

On October 18, 2018, the 'More Than a Toilet' campaign was launched by Harpic to help Water.org's efforts to end the global water and sanitation crisis. The campaign aims to call attention to the enormous number of people in India and other developing countries who lack access to basic sanitation, as well as the destructive impact this has on people's health, safety, and education.

5. Maggie

Brand Information

Brand	Maggie
Company	Nestle
Founded	1947
Product	Ramen Noodles
Market Share	50%



Introduction:

Maggi is a product owned through Nestle India that is one of the topmost main rapid meals organizations within the U.S. A. It produces diverse Maggi merchandise along with immediate noodles, stocks, ketchup, and immediate soups. The essential merchandise of Maggi is 2-minute Noodles, Maggi Masala, Maggi Sauces, Maggi Rice Mania. The distinctive merchandise of Maggi is synthetic withinside the seven extraordinarily technologically superior factories of Nestle India which are located in states like Tamil Nadu, Punjab, Karnataka, Goa, Uttarakhand, and Himachal Pradesh.

Maggi 2-Minute Masala Noodles are enriched with iron, a good way to now offer clients 15 per cent in their day-by-day iron requirement. About 70 per cent of city Indian families devour Maggi noodles each year, and extra than three per cent are bio serves, which makes them a supercar for iron fortification. As a result, it may fill withinside the iron deficiency hole among rural and concrete areas. With this objective, Maggi delivered Goodness of Iron in each packet.

Product Promotion Strategy

i. Two Minutes Noodles:

It's the marketing of Maggit for "Two Minute Noodles" has the maximum success and attractive to "entrepreneurs" who bought packaged Maggi noodles for 12 rupees for college students and experts in addition to for ladies who bought to offer nutritious food for her households in no time.

ii. Maggi Mom:

The subsequent marketing campaign changed into the "Maggi Mom" marketing campaign, which is positive to trap a couple of generations to understand the sacrifices made through their loving moms who juggle home duties and paintings but discover time to prepare dinner Maggi the use of new substances that take much less training time.

iii. Nutritional and fitness:

Under Maggi's "Simply Good" initiative, 2-minute noodles are a 15% extra nutritious way to deliver iron. Special Masala Noodles and 2-Minute Noodles are highly spiced versions of the noodles. The "Nutri-Licious" versions of Atta Masala Noodles, Baked Sweet Corn Noodles, Oats Masala Noodles, and Oats Herbs & Spices Noodles are fitness-centric.

Brand complacency and damage agree with:

Until the summertime season of 2015, the whole thing went by the plot for our cherished noodles. When the Food Safety and Regulation Authority discovered that the noodles had better tiers of lead than permitted, it commenced to hang out the cherished emblem. Despite Nestle's failure to gauge the severity of the disaster, the agency casually denied those allegations and didn't speak with clients. Among the public, the emblem's complacency and silence had been perceived as admissions of guilt. At the equal time, media homes commenced disproportionately overlaying the marketing campaign for you to benefit TRP, thereby harming the emblem image. In response, client anger accelerated, and the emblem crashed extra unexpectedly than any inventory marketplace in history! The marketplace percentage of Maggi fell from 82% to 4.8% in much less than a month. The merchandise had been pulled from retail cabinets throughout FDA

There changed into a six-week closing date for Maggi to show that its protection requirements had been valid. Eventually, the product exceeded the check and changed into the lower back on cabinets, however, prevailing lower back the agree with of clients changed into no clean task. The subject of moms approximately giving their youngsters Maggi changed into understandable. Numerous endorsers and influencers have withdrawn from the emblem. As a result, diverse competition stepped in to fill the void left through its abrupt disappearance. The marketplace changed into damaged into distinctive manufacturers with ITC's SunFeast Yippee, Nissin's Top Ramen, Ching's Secret, Wai Wai, and HUL's Knorr overlaying the essential ground.

Rebuilding a broken empire: Crisis Communication & Agility:

Maggi began out the use of new-age strategies to interact with humans via social media after understanding the blunders of their merchandise. Detailed evaluation furnished critical records concerning client sentiment and found out the growing PR disaster. Following this, Nestle accelerated its prices over marketing and marketing and advertising, launching the "We leave out you too" marketing campaign to focus on some of Maggi loyalists who shared their love for the noodles in a lack of Maggi. Thus, Maggi made its reputable go back to India's cabinets and controlled to regain its marketplace percentage inside a brief length of time, regaining a tremendous part of the marketplace percentage it lost.

Conclusion

In this case study, we took a look at five of the famous brands in five different segments

Bisleri dominates the Packaged water market in India, it was an Italian company that was bought by Parle in 1969. Bisleri has become a brand through which a product is recognized in India. It has acquired its position by making persistent adoption and making changes in the strategies. The first-ever promotion was done in 2000 before this they never did any type of Promotion. The first-ever Product Promotion strategy used by Bisleri was "Bisleri is veri veri extraordinary" this strategy was used to create awareness among the customer that they have an extraordinary product as compared to their competitors. This strategy was used to maintain their market share as Coca-Cola was quickly grabbing their market at that time. In mid-2000 Bisleri launched a special type of packing system which ensured a separation from its competitors, the unique packing system ensured that the product was not tampered with. This promotion was done until 2006 when Bisleri moved to the standard packing used by its competitors in the same year Bisleri also rebrand its packaging. In 2017 Bisleri launched a new campaign 'Har paani ki bottle Bisleri nahi hoti'! which took a dig at its competition by which it indirectly stated Bisleri was a superior product to its competitors. It also created awareness about the bogus products manufactured by local companies which looked similar to the Bisleri bottle. Additionally, the company adapted effective and efficient promotional techniques to encourage people to opt for their brand.

Ambuja Cements was launched when India was going through a construction boom in the early 1980. Over the years the company has risen to the apex of India's construction materials business in a relatively short time. In the first decade of the 21st century, the company's total revenue had reached a billion dollars, and its merger with the world leader in the cement sector had helped the company to remain the market leader until 2018 when Ultra Tech overtook the company in its market share. Today Ambuja Cement has a larger market shar of about 31% While the Holcim Group has a combined market share of 33% under two Brands Abuja Cement and ACC with a market share of 21 and 12% respectively. While Ultra Tech main customer is Business. Abuja Cement is focused in the retail consumer and ACC is focused in Business Customer. The reason that Abuja Cement has a higher market share in the Retail Cement sector is their great Product Promotion strategy. They have been able to convey their message through great advertisements which the customers are able to relate. The tagline which is mentioned in all their Product promotion strategy is "Giant Comprehensive Strength" Through which the company is trying to portray that the construction done through their cement has a good strength as compared to their competitors.

Fevicol was launched in the 1959 during a period when the glue used by the carpenters needed to be heated before it could be applied to the furniture. Fevicol was a revolutionary product which saved time for the carpenter and made their work easy. The company since its launch has been focusing on the carpenter. This brand is the most popular choice for carpenters for various purposes. Fevicol provided various workshops and skill development opportunity to the carpenters. This brand started itself by launching a single product of glue or adhesives but now it has several other products under the belt. As the leading adhesive, sealant company, it would constantly try to produce and promote more efficient and effective products. Fevicol today has more than 70% market share in the sealant market the main reason is the loyalty of carpenters towards their brand at many instants they refuse to use other brand other than Fevicol. Fevicol would create several campaigns and awareness programs for benefiting the general mass of India. The most famous tagline associated with the brand is "Fevicol ka mazboot jodh hai, tootega nahi". The Brand has proved to the consumer that the furniture made with Fevicol has greater stability as compared to furniture's made with other brand

Harpic was one of the first brands to be launched in India for toilet cleaning products. Prior to the launch of Harpic launch the condition of the toilets in India was very bad normal detergent was used for cleaning the toilets which did not clean the toilet well. Today Harpic has established itself as the top manufacturer of toilet cleaning products with a market share of 79%. This brand is the most popular among housewives when it comes to cleaning their bathrooms. This brand began with a single product, toilet cleaning, but it currently has several additional goods under its belt. Harpic has deployed several initiatives and awareness activities to help the Indian people. Harpic has used various product promotion strategies over the year. Harpic has also created various awareness campaigns which include Importance of Clean Toilet, Importance of saving water through Mission Pain through which the company tried to spread the message for conservation of water in addition to this they also showed the people cleaning toilet without Harpic requires more water.

Maggie has become a market leader in the noodles market It is majorly consumed at tourist places where the footfall of tourist is high. Maggie also provides the students living in hostels a good snack for their mid night cravings in 2015 Maggie was put under scrutiny by the FDA department for the presence of Lead present in the Maggie noodles. Due to which Maggie had to recall all its products from the shelf and the sale for Maggie was banned for a period of almost 2 months. This also damaged the image of Maggie in the eyes of the consumer. After the relaunch the market shar of Maggie fell from 82% to 4.8%. ITC backed Yippee took advantage of this and became the market leader during that time. Today Maggie has reclaimed its place as the market leader but has not been able to get the market share which was previously with them. Currently Maggie has a market share of 55% which was achieved majorly by improving the relationship whit the consumers. A public apology was made to the people. And new product promotion was done to achieve their market share back

MM

ORIGINALITY REPORT

8%	7%	0%	5%
SIMILARITY INDEX	INTERNET SOURCES	PUBLICATIONS	STUDENT PAPERS

PRIMARY SOURCES

1	brandyuva.in Internet Source	2%
2	blog.bannersnack.com Internet Source	1%
3	Submitted to Mondragon Unibertsitatea Student Paper	1%
4	thestrategystory.com Internet Source	1%
5	getvouchersforfree.com Internet Source	1%
6	en.wikipedia.org Internet Source	1%
7	www.coursehero.com Internet Source	<1%
8	Submitted to Institute of Technology, Nirma University Student Paper	<1%
9	Submitted to S.P. Jain Institute of Management and Research, Mumbai	<1%